Chui Lodge Fact Sheet

Every year, Chui Lodge engages in community development projects/schemes which are extensive and make a considerable difference to communities. We direct a small percentage of funds raised through sponsorship to the neighbouring communities, and through this program we have helped alleviate poverty and create enthusiasm for wildlife conservation amongst these communities.

EDUCATION

Chui Lodge works closely with neighbouring communities to ensure that the conservation of wildlife goes hand in hand with community development. We recognise that education is the keystone to peace and development, and thus our quest to provide education to our neighbouring communities. We believe that in order for the local people to live in harmony with wildlife, conservation efforts must bring tangible benefits to their communities.

We are involved in various education projects such as building classrooms, school kitchens, pit latrines, teachers' houses and providing water and water tanks to the school. We directly work with Kongoni primary school, Inkorienito primary school, and Leleshwa ECD, this has resulted in increased school enrolment. This programme intends to encourage technological development at schools by providing computers and constructing libraries equipped with relevant reference materials.

The Education Program also supplies donations of books, charts, posters, pencils, chalk, art materials and more to the schools that are under its program.

AGRICULTURE

The Sanctuary had developed a Community Partnership and Education Programme whose objective was to ensure that communities living adjacent to the Sanctuary supported its conservation agenda, which aims at improving their livelihoods and maximising benefits derived from their farms, by helping community members adopt modern farming techniques. We currently are working with the community to improve their flock productivity by providing them with superior breed of rams from the Dorper breed to produce a higher performance cross breed.

We also donate tree seedlings to the community for them to cross plant with other crops, in the sustainability of topsoil from soil erosion and enhance crop protection.

HEALTH CARE

The Sanctuary in conjunction with Chui Lodge has supported the neighbouring community, Inkorienito. In this community, we have constructed a dispensary for the residents of this area, who would otherwise travel long distances to access medical care. Extension of medical care to both our workers and the community is part of social welfare activities undertaken by the conservancy.

The Sanctuary ensures that adequate facilities and qualified personnel with a capacity to deal with any medical challenges are always made available to the community. The presence of proactive programmes as far as community hygiene is concerned is equally important in ensuring that most of the problems are prevented.

Oserengoni Wildlife Sanctuary currently supports the following health related programs:

Ambulance Services at the Health Care Centre

Donations towards running of Health Care Centre

Donations towards persons with Disability
